yesterday before Commissioner Lloyd P.

Train said he got the information concocasion from Deputy Assistant District Attorney Deacon Murphy and others. Mr. Murphy backed up his colleague, and former United States District Attorney Henry A. Wise, as counsel for Dr. Riordan, promptly called upon Mr. Murphy to tell what experience he had had that qualified him to determine when a man is in the condition frequently attributed to the luckless nocturnal bird. Mr. Murphy confessed that he had had two drinks before he met the Coroner.

"The accident occurred at 6 o'clock on the evening of December 8," said Mr. Murphy at the opening of his testimony. "I went to the police station to look after the bodies of the two men who were killed. Coroner Riordan came there at about 2:20 in the morning."

Then Mr. Murphy said that the Coroner was intoxicated. He knew the Coroner was intoxicated. He knew it because he was unsteady on his legs and talked thickly and even argued the point as to whether or not he should sit down while discussing the case with Mr. Murphy. The Assistant District Attorney said he told the Coroner's cierk to get him away from there beginning the property at more than $200,000 and the personal property at more than $100,000.

Riordan Sought Hearst Advice.

L. J. O'Reilly, private secretary to William R. Hearst, testified at the morning session that Coroner Riordan came to him and asked for advice about getting a special attorney to conduct the inquest. Mr. O'Reilly said he arranged with Herbert R. Limburg to do that service without compensation. He also said that he tried to get Mr. Lim-burg specially designated by the Disburg specially designated by trict Attorney, but that Mr. Perkins did not approve of that, saying he thought the case was ordinarily simple.

Ar. Train told of leaving the in-quest because of the undignified and focular manner in which it was being onducted by Coroner Riordan. He said that it was evident to him that Dr. Biordan intended to conduct the inves-tigation without aid from the District

Mr. Wise then took the witner over record of the inquest in an endeavor to show that Mr. Train's ire was un-justifiably aroused. He pointed out from the record that Coroner Riordan did give him an opporunity to ask questions
